Notes of the Day

If we may judge by the things alleged of Marcus Aurelius Hanna during the past day or two, he is fighting the National Senate. It is said that some of his people decoyed the wife of and there argued with her and used threats and intimidation to get ber to change her husband's vote. As might have been expected the actual result was to turn the husband wild with rage at Hanna, and to settle his opposition, which had been wavering, into an inexorable determination to fight the Boss to the last ditch. Another queer device of Hanna's has been to bring on a mob of strikers and beelers from Springfield, the home of Governor Bushnell, to mob and insult him in the executive office. All the dispatches indicate that Hanna is making a lurid pleture of himself, and it does not matter whether he succeeds in his ambition not, he has succeeded in splitting the Republican purty in Ohio right up the back, and beyond any hope of mending the gap. Hanna is making speeches to his followers, in which he angrily refers to his sacrifices and unselfish pan in saving the party from defeat in 1896. He does not offer any evidence of his partisan unselfishness just now. The opposition Republicans of fer to join hands with his friends and to elect "Uncle John" Sherman, Judge Day, or almost any reasonable comnise man; but Marcus Aurelius is not that sort of a politician. He means to die like a wolf at bay, snapping and biting to the last. It is a pity that he has not more sense. There is a chance for him right now to trade jobs with Thele John." The latter would much

We are beginning to be afraid that the Administration will have to use the navy to patrol the Republican party, and get Senor Sagasta over here to up it rig up a scheme of autonomy of some humburging sort, to induce the Republican insurgents to lay down their arms and be good. Not content with breaking out violently in Ohio, they must needs indulge in a firstrevolt in Maryland, where the anti-Wellington men in the legislature from Baltimore cemain out of the ous and are likely to coalesce with the Democrats to organize the lower house. The movement is spreading eminonsly for the Administration, and its reflex action will be felt in the Congress before many days. We already know what a riot is on among the Silver Republican Schators, and, in spite of Speaker Reed and his convenient Committee on Rules, something similar may break loose in that quar-

The principal feature today of the Chinese situation seems to be that England and Russia each is trying to see who first can jump into the role of indulgent uncle and lend China $80. 000,000. The London Times believes that the money will be raised at once and the debt guaranteed by the British government. It is alleged that in settlement for this financial aid, China will place her land tax revenue permanently under control of an English official, and will appoint another English director general of customs in suc cession to Sir Robert Hart, who doubt less has fed at the Oriental crib long enough to get rich and want to see a little of his native country before i is time for him to go to a better one. On the other hand, Continental reports assert that Russia has arranged to let China have the money on terms better than are obtainable in Paris or London. As usual, the stories emanating from antipodal source widely differ. The British view is rather too optimistic to compel full cre The program mentioned in the London Times is a pleasant one for England. If carried out it would restore British prestige in China and transfer the paramount influence at Pokin from the Czar to the Queen; but what will Russia be doing about it all the time. Her consent to such an ar-rangement is rather necessary as a "Weil?" condition precedent. This is not likely to be obtained in advance of a fight | shee counter."-Chicago Tribune.

kind of a power to surrender any po-sition of advantage once gained. Chiese fear of the designs of Germany still continues acute; but it is probable that the Kaiser does not presently intend to indulge in any fresh aggressions. He will have ample business to attend to in establishing himself in and colonizing the Snan-Tung peninsula.

It is to be hoped that the Congress ill not lose any time in attending to the pressing wants of the Navy. In his report for this year Secretary Long has shown that the first and most pressing need of the establishment is docking facilities. The repairs on the big drydock at the Brooklyn navy yard are about to be suspended, owing to exare about to be suspended, owing to exhaustion of the appropriation. This should be attended to at once, and another matter is nearly as imperative. Owing to the row over the price of armor plate it is impossible to complete the battleships Illinois, Alabama and Wisconsin, whose hulls are in danger of rapid deterioration under present conditions. It would seem wise to buy armor for these vessels at almost any price rather than to allow them to got on the stocks, and so involve the nation in a lors of the millions already spent on their construction.

The Nicaragua canal question is revived by the language of President Zelaya, of Nicaragua, in his recent mes sage to the legislature of that state He declared that the concession to the British Atlas Steamship Company does not conflict with the concession to the American Maritime Canal Company. That may, or may not, be con-38,829 clusive. It may be only an expression of executive opinion. It is understood and believed that the Atlas concession does give an exclusive right of navigation for thirty years of the waters at the mouth of the San Juan River and Silicon Inlet, and also exclusive right to build a railway along the line of the river, across the country. If that does not interfere with the right of the canal company, it should be explained why,

The Hanna wing of the Republican party does not mean to let any grass grow while it waits to attack the merit system in the civil service, to which the Administration is committed by party platform and personal pledges. It may be said that Mr. McKinley is much exasperated by the assaults of his own friends upon his position in this respect. It is even hinted that if Grosvenor and the rest of the spoils to get into St. Elizabeth's rather than agitators had not raised such a disturbance over the question, the President long ago would have quietly let a bolting legislator to a Columbus hotel | down the bars when nobody was looking, and invited the heelers and strik ers to walk in, without making any noise about it. Now it is being said for him, that after the anti-merit Conpresmen have let off their steam for ome consumption and stop criticising him, he will surrender to the spoilsmen, and so help them to further disredit his Administration and manufacture more good Democratic votes.

The bill legalizes purely civil marriages and makes them applicable to Peruvians and foreigners aitke. The President of Peru vetoed the measure on the grounds that it did not receive the necessary two-thirds of the full Congress and that it is not suited to the needs and conditions of the Peruvian people

The legend says that Quantrell and four lieutenants—Shepard, Tod. Uphase and Anderson—with $30,000, crossed the river, went south about five miles and buried their treasure on the coast of the steep limestone bank of Upton Creek, about 200 feet above the stream -a locality marked by scattered sand-stone and a thick growth of young tim-ber, with an occasional old and gnaried

A few years after that event now many years ago, Col. S. E. Cope, of that section, discovered in the foundathat section, discovered in the founda-tion wall of his house a stone on which "C. S." had been rudely scratch-ed, with a bayonet possibly, in the up-per right hand corner, and "S. T. U. A." in the lower right hand corner. Many of the stones used in the building the house were drawn from the top of the hill overlooking Union Creek, and the discovery gave credence to the legend of the buried treasure. The first two letters are supposed to stand for "Con-federate States," and the last four are believed to be initials of the names of Quantrell's lieutenants.

Whether the stone is a key to the location of the treasure or not, Col. Cope's faith in it is so great that for years he has been trying to find the buried hoard.

NEWSPAPER MAN INSULTED.

The Incident Shows the Difficulty of Getting News of Bismarck. Berlin, Jan. 5.—A typical instance of how the press is regarded by the rul-ing classes in Germany, which also illustrates the difficulty experienced in obtaining authentic information con-cerning the health of Prince Bismack, as given last Sunday. The manager of the Hamburgische Correspondent, who is also the agent of a well-known news agency, went to Friedrichsrhue to inquire into the ru-mor of the Frince's death. He met Count Von Rantzau, the Prince's sonin-law, and his two sons near the Prince's house. Apologizing for ac-costing him, on the road, the newspa-per man presented his card. Count Von Rantzau glanced angrily at the bit of pasteboard and then

"Clear out. I cannot be cross-questioned by all sorts of vagabond litera-ry fellows. Get out," and he pointed with his cane toward the park bound-aries. The journalist who is prominent and esteemed, with difficulty checked an angry reply. With a view to the main object of his visit he explained that he came to submit an important telegram, which would certainly inter-est the Prince. The Count answered: "I tell you again to get out. I don't want to see any telegram," and then hurried away spluttering insulting re-

He is a native of Baltimere, and had accumulated considerable savings, and in 1886 concluded he would purchase a home. About this time he fell sick and allowed his wife to complete the deal. He allowed her to take the deed in her own name. After his recovery he says, he found the attitude of his wife toward him changed. It all culminat-ed, he asserts, in his wife leaving him. He went to Chicago later and lived there for six years as a commercial agent. Then he went to traveling again. In the meantime he had made overtures to his wife, but met with no encouragement. Upon returning to Baltimore he found that his wife had secured a divorce on the grounds of desertion:

The facts were referrer to the Argentine Minister at Madrid for adjudication. The Argentine Minister appears to have introduced foreign matter into the contention, as he justifies his decision partly on the allegation that America did not recognize the right of America did not recognize the right of China to indemnity for Chinese killed at Rock Springs, Wyo., and yet insis-ted on indemnity for American mis-sionaries murdered in China.

STUDENTS ARE STARVING.

Startling Condition of Things at the Chicago University.

Chicago, Ill., Jan. 5.—President Har-per, of the University of Chicago, at the twenty-first convocation of the Univer-sity, held at the Auditorium Monday, night, made the astounding assertion that of five deaths which has occurred at the university in the last five years, three may be atributed directly to star-vation. His address has created a sen-sation here. The president stands by sation here. The president stands by his declaration, although he refuses to give any names. Investigation at the university developed the fact that among the 1,200 stu-dents enrolled there scores are compell-ed to struggle along on the scantiest food to pay their way. This applies not only to young men, but to young women

The question of providing nutritious food for the great body of students of the university is an important one, said President Harper, "and it has been forced upon our attention more than once in a painful way. I did not overstate the question in my address last night, when I said that hundreds of students in the university are living upon a diet which does not neverly support brainwork.

"Many are literally starving. The university is turning out men of strong inteligence, but weak bodies. Some of them are moral and intellectual descriptions."

them are moral and intellectual dys pepties. It cannot be expected that they will be of much use in the world. If the body is not properly nourished the mind will refuse to act as it should, and I therefore hold that it is as necessary to take care of and culti-vate the one as the other. "This is a subject upon which I have thought deeply, and nothing but the lack of funds has prevented me from carrying out some of my ideas. What is needed is a place where the students can get good food cheaply. By good food I mean wholesome food that is well and properly cooked. Some of them board in restaurants, which is not so bad; others live at the fraternity houses, where the food is excel-lent, but others "batch" it and live on the lowest sum with which they can get along."

Important announcements were made by President Harper at the convoca-tion. One of these was a gift of $200,-900 by John D. Rockefeller to enable the university to swell its income for the year, begining July 1, 1898, to $279,-600, the sum needed to carry on its 600, the rum needed to carry on its work as planned.

Another announcement made was that a college of commerce and politics would be started under the auspices of the university to teach practical business and politics, including debts of railroads, finance, journalism, insurance, manufacturing, trade and diplomatic services.

The affiliation of Rush Medical College, one of the pioneer medical insti-tutions of the West, with the university was also announced, one of the conditions being that the qualifications for admittance to the college should be gradually advanced until in 1902 they should include a freshman and sopho-more term in a standard university.

President Harper strongly recom-mended a collège for teachers in the public schools in connection with the Chicago University, which would ena-ble teachers to acquire a college educa-tion while pursuing their work. He pointed out that but 10 per cent of the teachers in the Chicago schools are col-lege men, and that as their tenure of office is secure, it is of great import-ance to the public that they should have the highest possible education.

The president also announced the addition of Lieutenant Palmer. United States Army, to the faculty, and the contemplated formation of military companies, adding that drill would be optional with the students.

PIRATES' CAVE ON CHESAPEAKE It is Supposed Colonial Freebooters

Stored Spoils There. Annapolis, Md., Jan. 5.-Anne Aruniel county has "a pirate's cave," in which t is supposed colonial freebooters stored rast quantities of spoils. It is situated near Fair Haven, on a hill overlooking Herring Bay and the Chesapeake. It is known as "Herring Bay vault," and is supposed to have been built by a man

This vault extends from east to west and is divided into several compartments, and has, it is said, a capacity for hundreds, perhaps thousands, of boxes or barrels of merchandsie.

Superintendent of Public Buildings W. F. Petherbridge, who lives within three es of the "cave," and has accumulated interesting data about the "Herring Bay vault," says:

"There now remains only an open door to this vault, which is partly filled by sand and water, the accumulation of many years, thereby excluding visitors. At one time this hiding place for pirates had two entrances, one on the west side of the hill bordering upon a cove that land. Dr. Edward Jacobs, of Baltimore, makes off from Berring Pay, where it was of easy access in those days for small boats, and the presumption is that the larger vessels remained out in deeper water while the smaller ones would convey its cargo to the secret hiding

Fund for French Lectures Cambridge, Mass., Jan. 5 .- J. H. Hyde,

The progressive ladies of Westfield, Ind., issued a "Woman's Edition" of the West field News, bearing date of April 3, 1896. The paper is filled with matter of interest to women, and we notice the following from a correspondent. Which the editors printed realizing that it treats upon a matter of remedy for croup, colds, and bronenity that I have been able to find is Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. For family the it has 50-cent bottles, for sale by Henry Ernos.

98, of New York, has presented to the Cerele Francais, Harvard's French literary and dramatic society, of which he is presi dent, a fund amounting to $20,000, for the establishment of an annual lecture-ship on subjects connected with French literature, art and history.

"There are also conjectures of a subvital importance to their sex: Wholesale and Retail Dauggist.
